'Routine Transfer'

World Peace Gains Ground

The Navy yesterday announced the transfer of Rear Admiral Leslie O. Stone from command of Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital to the post of medical officer of the First Naval District, Boston.

The Navy said it was a routine transfer — "had no relation to personnel or health."

But everyone knows that it was from an upper floor of the Bethesda hospital that the former Defense Secretary leaped to his death, and everyone also knows that the armed forces have an unhappy habit of carrying responsibility to the highest level.

Thus, a lieutenant discounts a sergeant's report that planes are approaching Pearl Harbor — and a lot of high brass in the Army and Navy are retired from service.

Some underling in a service hospital fails to keep watch on a very ill public official — and the hospital commander is shunted off to a minor post.

American war correspondents leaving for Europe to retrace the course of the Allied armies on "D" day five years ago were told by President Truman in Washington yesterday that "We are closer to peace now than at any time in the last three years."

And the president is probably correct.

Every piece of evidence available to the Western world points to shortages of civilian goods in the areas ruled by Russia — and a growing policy of conciliation in the Kremlin.

After a war the world has a natural inclination to go to work and rebuild peace and prosperity.

If the Russians have finally recognized that they are human too we won't be long in achieving a fairly stable peace.

Arabs Stirred By Move to Free Cirenaica

London, June 2 — (AP) — A British announcement that self government is being extended to Cirenaica and reports in Paris of a new British-Italian move concerning Italy's former North African colonies stirred the Arab world today.

The British foreign office disclosed last night Britain has agreed to the formation of a government in Cirenaica, recognizing as its head the anti-Communist Emir, Sayed Mohamed Idris El Senussi.

Today in Paris there were reports that British Foreign Secretary Bevin was talking with Italian officials on a possible new move to return the Italian colony of Libya to a U.N. trusteeship.

The future of the Italian colonies in Africa still is a subject of U.N. debate. The foreign office said the British step in Cirenaica was taken without prejudice to any decision to be made later on the future of Libya as a whole. However, such a move might face the U.N. with an accomplished fact.

The British administrator Cirenaica, or eastern Libya, and Tripolitania, or western Libya. The third sector, the Fezzan, is administered by the French.

Arab leaders have been demanding a united Libya and are fiercely opposed to the return of the Italians in any form to a position of authority in the former colonies.

Chicago G-Man Held for Holding Information

Chicago, June 2 — (AP) — Chicago's top G-man was ordered held today for refusing to surrender his records on Roger (the Terrible) Touhy, prohibition era gangster.

Judge John P. Barnes of the federal court imposed this punishment on George R. McSwain, chief of the Chicago FBI office, after holding him in contempt of court.

The court directed that McSwain is to remain in the custody of Attorney General Clark until he produces FBI records as ordered by Judge Barnes. He is scheduled to be taken into custody at 2 p. m.

Judge Barnes set the penalty after brief hearings at which Touhy's attorney, Robert B. Johnston, argued that McSwain's refusal to yield the records constituted disobedience to the lawful order of the court.

Otto Kerner, Jr., United States district attorney, told the court he could not deviate from the position he outlined yesterday in a conference in chambers. He did not say what was discussed in chambers but McSwain had told the court he was acting on orders from his superiors in refusing to hand over the records.

Under the penalty prescribed, McSwain will be the prisoner of the court. The federal bureau of investigation is a branch of the department of justice which is headed by Attorney General Clark.

Truman Made Greek Consul in the U. S.

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — President Truman is a Greek consul in the United States. A marble slab on exhibition in the Smithsonian institution says so.

The slab was presented to the president by Greece as a token of the country's gratitude for his "friendship x x x and his continuous endeavors for a universal peace."

Mr. Truman has loaned it to the Smithsonian.

The marble slab, naming Mr. Truman as a "proxenos (or consul) of the Hellenes," is from the temple of the winged victory on the Acropolis at Athens.

Teachers Can Ride Bus to Arkadelphia

Any teacher in Hempstead county or surrounding territory desiring transportation each day to Arkadelphia during the first five weeks of summer school may board the bus next Monday morning at 6 o'clock near the Diamond cafe. Whether the bus will continue to run after Monday and the amount each teacher will have to pay will be determined by the number of people going. The departure date each morning after Monday will be determined by the teachers themselves.

Chambers Main Witness in Hiss Trial

New York, June 1 — (AP) — Whitaker Chambers came into Federal court today for another dramatic face-to-face showdown with Alger Hiss, whom he branded as a State department tool of a pre-war Soviet spy ring.

The scene was reminiscent of that when Chambers first made charges against Hiss before the House Un-American Activities committee last year.

Chambers, self-styled former courier for the Russian ring, stopped to the stand as the star government witness in Hiss' perjury trial.

The former State department official has denied ever passing top-drawer State department secrets to Chambers, and Chambers and the government have claimed.

These denials led a Federal grand jury to indict Hiss.

Before Chambers was called to the stand the crowded courtroom was set abuzz over an old typewriter which Hiss is alleged to have used to copy secrets for the Russians.

Some of the secrets the government said still are so hot after 11 years that they cannot be disclosed to the jury of 10 men and two women.

The government said Hiss copied them on the typewriter and turned them over "in wholesale fashion" to Chambers.

Chambers' counsel said 25 to 30 FBI agents scoured Washington in vain trying to find the typewriter.

Then Hiss' attorney announced the defense had the typewriter. Under certain conditions he added, the FBI can look at the machine "all they want."

Chambers' first court appearance was brief. He spent the period before the overnight trial recess detailing his background before and after he became a Communist.

Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker tried to limit the recital of Chambers' "background" as he identified himself as a Communist.

Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman said he was inclined to agree. "We are not concerned with espionage but with perjury," the court said. He withheld a ruling until later however.

Hiss, 44, former high-ranking State department official, went on trial Tuesday on two counts of perjury because he denied before a Federal grand jury last December that he never turned over department documents to Chambers.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy charged in his opening statement the jury of ten men and two women that Hiss with his wife was responsible for making 65 typewritten sheets of 47 department documents all dated in the first three months of 1938.

He said the government would develop its case in this way: FBI experts will prove that 64 of the 65 typewritten documents were made with a Woodstock pica type machine. Then the government will prove its case if it can show that Chambers got the typewritten papers from Hiss and that the documents came from the State department.

He characterized Hiss as a man of "trust and confidence" and Chambers as a "moral leper."

The heavy-set white-haired Stryker said the case boiled down to whether Hiss testified truthfully when he said he had not given restricted documents to Chambers.

"The whole story rests on Chambers' declaration. 'If you do not believe Chambers the government has no case.'"

After the opening addresses the government called its first witnesses — Mrs. Adelaide B. Lowe, secretary of the Federal grand jury which indicted Hiss and Louis Benson a grand jury stenographer. They testified Hiss testified falsely for the jury on Dec. 15 the day the government charges he lied on two occasions.

Russian Paper Attacks the Fulbright Plan

Moscow, June 2 — (AP) — A Russian newspaper, the Soviet News Times, has charged that the Fulbright plan is a tool to take over propaganda and information services of Western Europe.

The plan, sponsored by Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark) provides that some money foreign countries owe the United States can be used for financing the exchange of students and teachers between the U. S. and the participating countries.

Communists in Nanking Are Tolerant

Nanking, June 2 — (UP) — A tolerant Communist administration has brought relative economic stability, efficiency, unemployment and a mild business depression to this former Nationalist capital of China.

Unemployment and a business depression were expected as Nationalist switched governments. The departure of the Nationalist regime threw 120,000 civil servants alone out of work and left, with their dependents, perhaps 500,000 inhabitants without means of support.

But the tolerance shown by the Communists even toward their political enemies has surprised nearly everyone. Persuasion, not pressure, is the order of the day, at least in these first weeks of Communist rule.

Even former Kuomintang secret agents are permitted to roam the streets without restriction, although they apparently are kept under close surveillance.

Foreigners are far better off than those in Communist Peiping and Tientsin. The Communists have set up a foreign affairs department to handle their relations with the world. Their property has not been violated and there is no restriction on their movement, even into the city suburbs.

The Communist high command halted early anti-foreign actions by individual Communists, such as their unconventional entry into the home of J. Leighton Stuart, the American ambassador.

However, the Communists have forced foreign diplomats to register their cars and telephones in their own names instead of in the names of their countries. The Communists said they could not extend diplomatic status to the foreign missions because the missions do not recognize the Red government.

Nanking inhabitants also have been deeply impressed by the relative economic stability that the Communists have brought to Nanking.

Prices of imported manufactured articles are much higher than under the Nationalist regime. But the prices of essentials, such as rice, meat and cooking oils are more stable than they have been for some time.

A Nanking university survey showed that the general cost of living index in May rose only 40 per cent, which is negligible when compared with the daily doubling of prices under Kuomintang rule.

The would-be Un-Chinese efficiency with which the Communists restored Nanking's public services, the well-disciplined behavior of the Communist soldiers and the general feeling of relief that the civil war is over for the city all have helped win new adherents for the Communists here.

But this has been offset to some extent by the business depression that followed the Communist government's taking over. The Nationalist government and the discharge of its civil servants.

Truman Quits Idea of Cross Country Tour

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — President Truman said today a cross-country stumping tour in behalf of his program may not be necessary. He said a news conference the idea of such a tour has been put on the shelf for the time being.

Asked if it was possible the trip might not be necessary, the president replied it was not possible.

Mr. Truman said he plans to stay in Washington as long as congress stays in session, and perhaps longer.

He hasn't any vacation plans beyond three-day trips such as he made last week-end to the Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac river.

The president emphasized again that he considers all the proposals he submitted to congress in January as must legislation.

He said the "must" list has not been increased since his state of the union, economic and budget messages to congress.

As for the proposed session of congress, he suggested that judgment be withheld until adjournment.

Senate Likely to Pigeonhole Pension Bill

Washington, June 2 — (UP) — The house-approved veterans' pension bill appeared headed today for a senate pigeonhole at least for this session.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas, Ill., and other influential senators declined to comment publicly on the politically-potent measure. But informed sources predicted privately that the legislation would be shelved for the time being.

The house approved the pension bill yesterday by a vote of 385 to 27. It would authorize $72-a-month pensions for needy, 65-year-old veterans of World Wars I and II. The Veterans administration estimates that it would cost $65,000,000,000 over the next 50 years.

The senate assigned the bill to its finance committee. Chairman Walter F. George, (D-Ga.), is undergoing a physical checkup, and other members were slow to comment on the measure.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O.), a member of the group, said he was sure "the finance measure, Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, (D-Colo.), said he was "generally in favor of more pensions," but wanted to take a hard look at the house bill before supporting or opposing it.

Leaders of the senate's economy bloc also were publicly silent. But they too said privately the senate would be in no hurry to approve the measure. However, as one leader said, "it will cause everybody in the senate a lot of trouble."

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — Senators trying to get some steam behind an economy drive had little to say today about a veterans' pension bill overwhelmingly approved by the house.

Instead the senators applauded action of their appropriations committee in whacking off nearly $13,000,000 cash from operating funds to be given World War I and II veterans when they become 65 years old.

The senate expenditures committee, too, recalled budget bureau officials for testimony on plans to lop off from one to more than three billion dollars from President Truman's spending plans.

By a 365 to 27 roll call vote, the house quickly stamped approval on the bill. It passed the house yesterday on a $72-a-month pension to be given World War I and II veterans when they become 65 years old.

Budget officials estimate the pension measure will cost $65,000,000,000 over the next 50 years.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois told a reporter the pension measure is not on the senate's legislative schedule now.

Lucas said the bill probably will go to the senate finance committee which normally handles such matters. Its fate there is uncertain.

Republican Floor Leader Wherry of Nebraska and GOP policy committee Chairman Taft of Ohio, who were big guns in the economy efforts to date, told reporters they must study the pension bill before deciding what they propose.

At best the additional pension costs appeared to collide with any overall economy drive aimed at averting federal tax hikes or government deficits.

The budget bureau estimated that the bill would raise costs for veterans pensions over the next 50 years from around $35,000,000,000 to $100,000,000,000. They said $57,000,000 of the increase would come from the unemployment compensation clause and $8,693,000,000 through other liberalizations.

The senate economy bloc scored its first major victory within the appropriations committee when that group reported out a bill containing operating funds for the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, for the state, justice and commerce departments and the federal judiciary.

Security Is Man's Oldest Dream — as Long as You Are Alive There Is No Security

By HAL BOYLE
New York, June 2 — (AP) — The big grab today is for security. Individual men want it. Nations want it. The world wants it.

That is why, perhaps, men, nations and the world are all nervous, touchy, irritable. All have the jitters—emotional as well as political and financial jitters.

Every person and every group wants to feel safe from life's multiple dangers. It is as true of the globe where men are born, grow old and die.

Death is the final negation of hope for security on earth. Heaven—all races pray to a heaven of some kind—for this answer we must wait. And yawn — and fear, if we are wise.

One sure thing is that here we no security while you're alive. There is no security to expect. It is a foolishness to expect it. Kings and lords, in the highest castle as surely as in the poorest workman's hut in the lowest hole.

War and famine, these have been always with us. Two twin nightmares that ruin our long dream of peace and plenty.

Security is an odd thing. The faster you chase it the faster it flies from you. The more you want it to be secure, the more insecure you feel. Security is the average

Funeral Planned for Victim of Unexplained Shooting

Jasper, June 2 — (AP) — A community funeral was planned for a 19-year-old victim of an unexplained shooting.

Moore, a bank vice president, was shot fatally by Albert H. Mayer, 34, of near Roland, Ark., late Tuesday, as Moore talked with friends on the courthouse lawn here.

Mayer himself was killed shortly afterward. He was shot after an exchange of bullets with officers in the courthouse corridor.

Funeral services for Moore were to be held in the high school auditorium at 3 p. m.

Pull Together for Freedom Pleads Trimble

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — A plea for the country to pull together in order to make democracy work has been made by Rep. Trimble (D-Ark.).

"Our forefathers worked together x x x to attain our freedom," Trimble told the house in remarks appearing in the congressional record. "We like them, must get along together today if we are to preserve that freedom."

Laws are passed, he said, to protect the country against communism, fascism, and nazism—all three the same horse but in different harness—"but."

"That alone is not enough to assure our success as a nation."

"We forget," Trimble said, "that the success of our great system of government will do more than all else to combat those who would do us injury as a people."

"We should strive with all our might," he said, "to have security on the farm; 'Everyone who has the ambition to do so can own his own farm.'"

"We have good roads to serve these farms."

"Children born in these farm homes along with all other children in America have plenty of good food, warm clothing and a chance for a good education."

Tornadoes Hit Illinois, Injuring 25

Chicago, June 2 — (AP) — Fourteen persons were injured and several farm homes were destroyed yesterday as tornadoes skipped over areas in four midwest states.

The small twisters hit rural areas of southwestern Iowa, northwestern Missouri, northeastern Kansas and southeastern Nebraska. Eleven persons in the vicinity of Tarkio, Mo., were injured, while the twister which hit near Essex, Ia., injured a family of three.

The tornado winds followed thunderstorms over midwest states yesterday. The shower activity today was in parts of Iowa, northwestern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin.

Most of the country had fair weather and mild temperatures today. The country's top mark yesterday was 106 at Presidio, Tex.

11 Hurt At Tarkio
Tarkio, Mo., June 2 — (AP) — Tornado winds lashed rural areas in Kansas last night, injuring at least 11 persons.

A twister destroyed and damaged farm buildings about five miles southeast of Tarkio. Most of the injured were from that area. Nine persons were taken to a Shenandoah, Ia., hospital and two were hospitalized at Maryville, Mo.

Shenandoah hospital attendants said several of the injured were in serious condition.

The Missouri highway patrol reported debris left by the wind and heavy rain blocked at least one route.

Farm buildings five miles south of Tarkio, Mo., were badly damaged. All the persons injured were from that area. They were taken to hospitals at Shenandoah, Ia., and Maryville, Mo.

Violated Atomic Security Rules Senator Charges

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) today charged the atomic energy commission with violating both "the letter and spirit" of security provisions in the atomic energy act.

Hickenlooper made this accusation when the senate-house atomic energy committee opened the second day of hearings on the Iowa charges of "incredible mismanagement" in the AEC.

Hickenlooper, ranking GOP member of the committee, has asked that AEC Chairman David B. Lilienthal be fired.

Hickenlooper declared there has been "brazen effrontery" in violations of the law by issuing "emergency" clearance for access to secret information.

The atomic act of 1946, Hickenlooper went on, has specific and "mandatory" requirements for FBI investigation and clearance of individuals prior to employment on atomic projects. He said the very exception is that "temporary clearances" may be granted in cases of "genuine emergencies."

He said the commission had abused the right of making emergency clearances by granting 618 with access to restricted data in 1947; granting 2,103 emergency clearances in 1948, and 350 emergency clearances thus far in 1949.

"When I think of the evidence which has been presented to the world as to the nature and tactics of the Communist party, it is inconceivable to me that any responsible government official would authorize such procedures," Hickenlooper said.

Some committee members are talking of calling Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves to answer Lilienthal's assertion that the atomic project was "bogged down" when the commission took over from the military.

Groves was in charge of the atomic project when the army controlled it.

Hickenlooper himself has said he does not want the hearings to turn to issue army vs. civilian control of the nation's atomic program.

In his present stage, hearings are somewhat similar to the early phases of a court trial. Hickenlooper is cast in the role of prosecutor developing a case to back up his charges of mismanagement.

Yesterday, he centered on the contention that a high turn-over in personnel indicated poor management. He said the turnover was 87 per cent in the first two years under Lilienthal. Lilienthal replied that, along with other government agencies, the commission had had difficulty in getting and keeping good men.

There are signs that Hickenlooper intends, however, to build most of his case around the security issue.

After reciting off his statistics on "emergency clearances," Hickenlooper declared:

"In the face of all the publicity which is issued to the American public relative to atomic security, I consider this conduct of the atomic energy commission and its chairman, David B. Lilienthal, to be brazen effrontery; I consider it to be a violation of the letter and spirit of the atomic energy act of 1946. It is high time the facts were known."

Hickenlooper, former chairman of the congressional atomic committee, said that he had "remonstrated" with the commission about clearances in extensive correspondence dating back in 1947. He added that he had been told that the AEC was keeping emergency clearances "to the minimum."

Atomic Probe Just Like Big Production

BY JAMES MARLOW
Washington, June 2 — (AP) — The time: The atomic age. The place: A huge room. The play: the first great indoor drama of the atom open to the public.

The scene: blazing lights, whirling cameras, tens of thousands of congressmen, newsmen scribbling furiously hundreds of curious public neck-craining in the jam-packed room.

The stars: Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican, and David B. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission facing each other stonily across a shining mahogany table.

The plot: Hickenlooper says Lilienthal "mismanaged" the nation's atom program, is unfit to run it. Lilienthal "dam mad" denounces Hickenlooper for "sneering," says in effect: "Prove what you say."

Protocol: Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat and chairman of the congressional committee hearing the case, says: "There'll be a fair opportunity, to throw a searchlight on the issue."

Curtain rises on Act I: Tight lipped Hickenlooper sets out to prove what he's said fetches little cards out of his various suit pockets in such orderly fashion that he has memorized where each card was.

He looks at each card, reads off the name of some official who worked for the AEC and quit or shifted jobs within the AEC asks Lilienthal if he knew that man what he thought of him.

Hickenlooper says these many shifts and changes all add up to bad management in the AEC. Lilienthal says it's not easy to get good men. He says "men find it very difficult to have, to spend so much time explaining what they have been doing, as they do in getting things done."

Act 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Democrats Again Fail to Agree on Labor Bill

Washington, June 2 — (AP) — House Democrats have failed again to agree on a new labor bill.

The senate, which starts Taft-Hartley debate Monday, clearly has the initiative on labor legislation and is likely to pass a bill before the house does.

Those developments, though necessarily decisive, offered cheer to Truman Democrats anxious to end the session.

Truman Democrats on the House committee had hoped to agree on a compromise bill, peeling major portions of Taft-Hartley act, vote it out committee, and see it approved by the house before the senate picked action.

Then, if the senate passed a bill containing certain Taft-Hartley provisions like anti-strike injunctions and the ban on closed shop — as pro-union congressmen feared — how a version might then more closely counter-weight. And the version might then more closely approximate the Taft-Hartley "repeal" which president Truman wanted.

But if the senate sends an injunction and closed-shop measure to an aimless house, there is no other bill before it. The House has no bill before it.

Whether President Truman would sign it is another question.

Last night the Democrats members of the house labor committee held their third meeting and decided nothing at all — except to turn the matter back to a subcommittee.

The Democrats also discussed minimum wage bill and decided nothing on that either.

Western Allies Still at Odds Over Berlin

Paris, June 2 — (AP) — The Western Allies and Russia are still at odds today over reviving the Four Big Power commandatura for Germany, though agreed in principle that divided city should be united under a single governing body.

Yesterday they split on a new proposal to limit the powers of the four big powers. Today the Western ministers weighed a vague Soviet hint that the Russians might agree to the commandatura's area of authority.

Western representatives at the foreign ministers conference, spearheaded by U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson — insist firmly on modification of the rule that all decisions of the commandatura must be unanimous.

Acheson said the rule, which he said was "unworkable," was a "major obstacle" to the commandatura's area of authority.

Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman urged that unanimity be required only for major issues. They argued that in a city of 2 million, a majority of 100,000 should be enough to make decisions.

Russian Foreign Minister Vyshinsky insisted that the commandatura retain unanimity. At yesterday's meeting, however, according to French sources, Vyshinsky said the commandatura's functions might be re-examined.

His statement was interpreted to mean that some authority might be withdrawn from the commandatura and decided upon by a man administration. It was Acheson's statement that there is no reason why such things as page collection, water supply, street cleaning should become terms of international debate.

His statement was expected to operate today on the powers of Russia thinks can safely be taken from the commandatura.

A clash between Acheson and Vyshinsky developed yesterday. Vyshinsky was declared Western powers were in no

Mr. Morris will be succeeded as

Professionals Lead By Small Margins

Texarkana, June 2 — (AP) — The host professional led by a small margin as the second and final round of the Arkansas open golf tournament got underway here today.

Don Murphy of the Texarkana Country club where the tourney is being held, shot a two-under-par 71 in the first round yesterday.

Al Rayford, Camden pro, was second with a 72, and Gib Sellers, Hot Springs money player, was third with 73.

Five who tied with 74's included defending champion Vincent All John Buzick, the Jonesboro amateur, Fort Smith amateur, and John Buzick, the Jonesboro amateur.

In addition to winding up the open, today's rounds will serve as qualifying tests for the state amateur meet. Match play in the amateur will run from tomorrow through Sunday.

Hope agent by Gilson Ross, well known local man, Mr. Ross, now with Rephan's Department store, will go to a Metropolitan Life training school in Atlanta Ga., June 18, and will assume management of the local insurance debit about July 4.

Mr. Morris first joined Metropolitan here in August 1945, and has worked with that company continuously ever since. He expressed thanks to the local public for their help in winning promotion to assistant manager at Little Rock.

Bandleader to Fight Divorce

Hollywood, June 2 — (UP) — Bandleader Don Sylvio said today he wouldn't let film star Margaret O'Brien's mother end her brief and stormy marriage to him without a battle.

Mrs. Gladys Sylvio, has announced she wants to annul the marriage.

"I'm going to fight this thing because I still love Gladys," Sylvio declared. "I never would have married her if I didn't love her."

Sylvio wouldn't say whether the 12-year-old movie star's opposition to his marrying her mother had broken up the union.

"That would make quite a story but I can't talk about it now," he said. "If and when my wife files her annulment suit I'll make a statement that will be interesting reading."

The big-eyed young actress cried at her mother's wedding last February in Palm Beach, Fla., after at first refusing to attend.

Sylvio said talk of an annulment was "ridiculous."

"On what grounds?" he asked. "There was no fraud, and the marriage was consummated. How can it be annulled?"

He said he and his wife shared a hotel suite the night of the marriage "and we were together as late as last Monday night."

Mrs. Sylvio declared they had

House Bill Is Blocked Temporarily

Washington June 1 (P).—President Truman's big housing bill was blocked for the time being today by House Economyites.

The Rules Committee refused to clear it for House action until the Budget Bureau says just how much it will cost.

Critics of the legislation say it will involve an outlay of over $10,000,000,000 in federal funds in 40 years. It provides among other things, for slum clearance, public housing units, subsidies for low-rent homes, etc.

The committee set a new showdown for Friday, after the Budget Bureau figures are received.

Meanwhile Chairman Spencer (D-Ark.) of the House Banking committee filed a motion in the House designed to force a House vote on the measure if the Rules group stands pat in refusal to give it the right of way.

Other developments in congress today: The Senate-House Atomic committee launched its inquiry into the fitness of Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the Atomic Energy Commission, who is accused of "incredible mismanagement" by Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa). The committee asked the AEC to turn over six groups of documents covering many phases of atomic development including "lost" and "misplaced" atomic material, and the AEC's controversial fellowship awards. Testimony was received that two scientists were kept on AEC payrolls despite security reports they were "bad risks."

A Senate judiciary subcommittee was denied access to secret government files relating to certain officials of foreign governments. Attorney General Tom Clark said he was directed by President Truman not to disclose them. The committee is studying ways to tighten the immigration laws against subversives.

The Senate Appropriations committee cut $13,000,000 from funds voted by the House to finance the State, Justice and Commerce departments for the coming fiscal year.

The Senate passed a bill legalizing the so-called "basing point" price system so long as there is no price collusion with other manufacturers. In effect, the bill permits a manufacturer to sell his goods at a flat delivered price without regard to varying transportation costs.

Senate majority leader Lucas (D-Ill.) introduced an administration bill to authorize construction of the controversial St. Lawrence seaway and power project which the Senate refused to approve last year. Joining Lucas in sponsoring the new measure were 19 senators including 12 Republicans and eight other Democrats.

A new plan to help states finance their school programs was proposed by Rep. Scrivner (R-Kas). He suggested that the states be allowed to keep some of the federal income and corporation taxes collected within their borders for use on education.

Polio Precautions

A good health rule for parents to impress upon children in infantile paralysis epidemic areas is to avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely.

THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

DOROTHY DIX Extravagant Wives

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a man of 68. All of my life I have worked hard, have never been able to save a cent. I have spent very little money myself, but my wife has never been able to deny herself anything she wanted or to see the wisdom of saving for our old age. In vain I have preached thrift to her and pictured to her the horrors of a dependent old age, but she just laughed at me and went her way living up to the last dollar of our income and beyond it.

Through the years she has absolutely refused to cooperate with me in saving and I was helpless to do it without her. Now the fate that I have always dreaded is looming before us, that of a penniless old age, and I am racked with worry over what will befall us when my earning capacity is gone.

Can you write something that will make young wives see the necessity of putting something aside for old age? It is bound to come to us all? For it doesn't make any difference how much money her husbands makes it is useless for him to try to be economical if she is a waster.

AN OLD MAN
Answer: To me the most pathetic figures on earth are the poor old men who have worked hard all of their lives and who, at the end have nothing to show for their labor. Haven't even saved up enough to enable them to slow down and take the last lap of the journey easily. You see them everywhere. Weary spent, bent-shouldered old men flogging themselves on to their daily grind like worn-out old dray horses.

No men in the world are more entitled to our sympathy than those who are cursed with wives who are spenders. A husband and wife must do teamwork if they are to get along in the world and save up any money. No man, no matter how thrifty he is nor how much he personally denies himself, can make any headway in nourishing a savings bank account if he has a wife who is extravagant. For as the old proverb says, "a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than a man can put in at the front door with a shovel."

Women Suffer More
If these extravagant wives would only look at the matter straight they would see that it is even more important for themselves that the future should be safeguarded than it is for their husbands. For a man can nearly always get something to do up to the very end of his life that will make him some sort of living but under Heaven there is no other creature so helpless and piteous as the old woman who is penniless.

If spendthrift wives would only look into the future, they would clutch every dollar tightly and they would back their husbands up in saving for their old age.

Dear Miss Dix: My best girl friend has an inferiorly complex because of her nose. She is most attractive in other ways and has loads of girl friends but no dates.

and she thinks that the reason for that is because she has such an ugly nose. What can she do about it?

Answer: The answer to that is easy enough. Have her nose altered. Plastic surgeons are the miracle-workers these days. A recent article in a magazine said that for $250 one could get a Greek profile.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Would a young man with a violent temper be a good matrimonial risk if he had no other fault? I am in love with a man who flies into a rage at the slightest provocation but he says he will calm down after we are married. What is your advice?

Answer: I do not consider that any other fault that either a man or woman can have makes them as bad a risk as a violent temper. It makes them unjust, unreasonable, cruel almost impossible to live with.

If you marry this high-tempered man you will have to stand abuse and insult, and go all your days in terror of rousing the devil in him. Don't do it. No woman was ever happy with a violent-tempered husband.

Strikes Spread in Riot-Torn Bolivia

By The Associated Press

Sympathy strikes continued to spread in riot-torn Bolivia today. The country's rich tin mines remained shut but emergency army forces were reported to have restored order in the Puno mining areas, where rioting brought death to 40 persons and injured 83 in the past five days.

Rioting broke out over the weekend after the government deported a number of labor leaders. All the country's rail lines have been paralyzed by a sympathy strike and Bolivia's food supply is threatened.

Settlement of the Berlin problem is bogged down over Russia's insistence that the veto be part of any future Four-Power administrative policy. The Western powers and Russia split yesterday in the foreign ministers conference at Paris. The Western powers proposed that the veto power be limited. Russia's Andrei Vishinsky said no. However, Vishinsky hinted that the Russians might agree to trim the area of authority of the kommandatura (Allied governing body for Berlin).

Omaha Oil Fire Appears Burning Self Out

Omaha June 1 (AP). — A fire that raged furiously through storage tanks at an oil refinery here appeared to be burning itself out today — 24 hours after its outbreak.

Fire Battalion Chief Peter Dunn predicted the fire would end when two still-burning crude oil storage tanks "burned themselves out."

The fire started with a blast at mid-afternoon yesterday on the Missouri river banks just outside the Omaha city limits. One by one during the next 16 hours storage tanks blew up or caught fire until approximately a dozen of the 33 tanks in the area had been destroyed.

H. A. Searle Jr. company president, sealed down his estimate on the amount of oil destroyed to 420,000. Earlier he had placed the loss in excess of 500,000 gallons. He estimated total damage at $250,000.

Blessing in Disguise

The cotton boll weevil insect was honored with a monument by citizens of Enterprise, Ala. The weevil destroyed their cotton crops and forced them to diversify, which proved such a success that the boll weevil came to be considered a blessing in disguise, hence the monument.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

The Story: Bea Cosgrove, unsatisfied that Lilly Warren's death was suicide, has just proved to herself and Fred Silwell that the alibis of the other Speare Islanders are worthless. But her activities seem pretty well known to the island. However, a storm gathers over the island and the islanders eight of them altogether, retire to the home of the owner, Henry Gough Harding. Suddenly an alarm is given. There is a fire sweeping through the dry grass of the island.

Henry Harding almost knocked Mabel Jones down as he burst into the main room. He carried a 30-30 rifle.

"Silwell, Stand away from the others. I'll kill you for lighting a fire in this wind."

"I didn't," Fred said quickly. "No one could see it in the dark. Why and how could I light it now?"

"It's no beacon," Bascombe said. "It's a fire in the long grass and the brush. Its growing fast."

Bea Cosgrove heard the snick as Harding automatically lowered the cocked hammer of the rifle. He pushed to a place by the window, turned quickly. His voice carried authority when he spoke.

"We've got one chance to stop or turn that fire. We'll go to the shed or tools, knives, axes. All of you follow me. I'll show you where we can backfire. We may be able to save the house if it rains soon enough."

Henry Harding stuck his shovel upright in the ground, put his long flashlight on a rock so its beam shined toward the opposite side of the island. "We'll backfire here." He had to shout to make himself heard.

The others were breathless and gasping from the long run with their tools and equipment.

"Make grass bundles," Harding commanded. He showed them how to twist the tough, long-stemmed grass into compact brown masses that burned fiercely when he lit them with his nose of matches. He showed them how to scatter the burning bundles along the path of the fire. A dozen little fires sprang up. A dozen bits of burning grass ahead of the island.

As they worked they were conscious of the approaching fire. The gusty wind was hot now and whipping bits of burning grass ahead of its main front. The smoke was denser, yet between puffs there was still comparatively clean air.

The little fires spread out, joined together in a wall between the conflagration.

Speare Islanders and the Larger

Flats of shovels pounded at fire edge. Wet sacks beat out the life of sparks. Hoos scraped dried grass for the hard earth.

Harding had chosen his spot well. A bare outcrop of rock left only a portion of the backfire left to be guarded. But the wind was making up, and the counter-fire ate its way to windward slowly, while it zipped and rushed toward the laboring people.

The charred barrier widened gradually, dotted with still burning bushes and shrubs, to offer scant fuel for the main fire. It was close now, close enough so its chuckle and crackle as it swayed low grass and dry brush could be heard plainly.

A few scattered drops of rain fell unnoticed.

The path on their side of the black path was out. Shouted orders were passed along from one smoke-shrouded figure of another. "Fall back. If it jumps, try to check it. If you can't, try to get back to the rock!" The voices were hoarse, as unrecognizable as the blackened figures.

The wind was a hot fierce blast. Bea Cosgrove staggered along, the wind at her back. She snatched a shovel. Hall blundered and the uncertain light from the fires, she stumbled over rocks and bushes, put a few more yards between herself and the burned-over area. A few more, and her feet were stinging lead. She tripped, fell heavily. She got up with the aid of the shovel, left it as she stumbled on.

The earth trembled beneath her. In a few seconds a dull rumbling came to her. "Thunder," she muttered, looking in the direction of the sound. She knew a once it was not thunder.

Beyond the main house, from the cove and lower storerooms, flames were leaping high into the air. Gasoline-fed flames. The house, the spouting water tower, made a silhouette against their brightness.

As Bea stared, the house lifted into the air. It moved slowly, in one piece. As it settled back, it disintegrated.

The earth trembled beneath her again, a heavier jar. Concussion pushed at her. There was no sign now of the house or tower.

She was suddenly conscious of growing light near by. She turned quickly to face intense heat. The main flames had jumped the back-tire, a dozen places. Its several spearheads were joining into a new solid front.

Bea forced herself to her feet, ran as she could see others running toward the rock outcrop. The scant check of the charred path gave them a few precious minutes to race along the fire's face to Little Rock, June 2 (AP). — Construction of an experimental type road near Tucker prison farm.

Highway Director J. C. Baker said yesterday the prisoners would be used on Highway 15 from Englehardt to the junction of Highway 79.

The job will employ a new machine recently purchased by the highway department. The machine mixes soil and concrete which can be spread for a comparatively inexpensive road base.

Baker said work orders had been issued for five projects on which contracts had been let. Included are:

Hempstead and Howard counties, six miles of blacktopping between Nashville and Ozan, Highway 4.

Jefferson county, 10.8 miles of blacktopping between Altheimer and Corner Stone, Highway 6.

Phillips county, 9.9 miles of concrete on the Wabash-Northeast road, Highway 44.

Little Rock June 1 (AP). — Work orders on five projects for which contracts were awarded at the last highway commission meeting were issued today.

The orders:

White county 6.3 miles of grading between Morning Sun and Judsonia Highway 67.

Hempstead and Howard counties six miles of blacktopping between Nashville and Ozan Highway 4.

Jefferson county 10.8 miles of blacktopping between Altheimer and Corner Stone Highway 6.

Phillips county 9.9 miles of concrete on the Wabash-Northeast road, Highway 44.

St. Francis county 14.4 miles of shoulder stabilization and widening ward shelter.

It was a near thing for some. A spending of the last strength, of desperation for others. And for a time they had to fight for even their scant margin of safety, had to beat at encroaching flames running down paths of grass.

Then the main fire was past. It swept down the island, roaring and chuckling again, apparently unchecked by the slowly increasing rain. Its brilliance merged with the leaping flames from the cove.

"All here? All here?" Hoarse questioning voices. A counting of figures. "All here! All here!"

One man stood apart, his face turned up toward the rain, his lips moving silently, in the passing firelight.

Adopts Rule of Basic Rights for All Men

Montreat N. C. June 1 (AP). — The legislative body of Southern Presbyterians today "accepted" a report contending that good Christians should protect the "basic rights" of all men white and Negro.

Shortly thereafter the 83rd general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. shut up shop and went home.

Behind them the commissioners left two major works — an agreement to increase cooperation with the Northern denomination with a view to re-union and orders to reorganize drastically the church's agencies.

The decision to cooperate with the Northern denomination with a view to re-union and orders to reorganize drastically the church's agencies.

The decision to cooperate with the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. (Northern) apparently paved the way for re-agitation of the whole re-union issue in the Southern church.

At least half a dozen commissioners said privately that they felt the "re-union" on which had gone by the boards and they were now free to campaign against the move openly.

The final day of the assembly of the road between the junction of Highway 75 and Blackfish Lake Highway 70.

saw the law-making body:

Avoid a straightforward stand on the subject of divorced persons remarrying in the church.

Water-down blunt opposition to euthanasia or mercy killings.

Decide that the simple failure to register under the nation's draft laws does not constitute conscientious objection of a religious nature.

Refuse to become involved in a movement to amend the U. S. constitution to declare that this nation "recognized the authority and law of Jesus Christ."

Urge full collaboration "with every local movement to secure weekday religious instruction of our children and youth in cooperation with our public schools provided local school boards do not object."

The assembly's action in "accepting" the report on "state's rights and human rights" did not mean disagreement on either way. It meant simply that the assembly commended the report to the various churches for "consideration and study."

came to cut off the newspaper's power May 23.

The workman Walter Rimer said he was threatened with a shotgun when he attempted to disconnect the power. He said he was sent to the paper because the electric bill had not been paid.

Coughlin testified that he had unloaded shotgun in his hand at the time but added that he had brought the weapon to town to have it fixed. He said he happened to have it in his hand when he asked Rimer not to cut off the power.

Court Delays Decision on Editor's Case

West Memphis June 1 (AP). — Pete Coughlin co-publisher of the West Memphis News will have to wait to learn whether he will be charged with a deadly weapon.

The case was argued before City Judge Doyle Dodd here today. He said he would give a decision in two or three days.

Coughlin is charged with "drawing a deadly weapon" on a light and water department employee who

Papers in Coplon Trial Withheld for Security

Washington June 1 (AP).—Some of the slips of paper found in Judith Coplon's purse were described with mystifying brevity at her espionage trial today but the prosecution withheld them from evidence on grounds of national security.

The slips 12 in number, were part of a sheet of papers found in Miss Coplon's pocketbook when she was arrested with her alleged Russian sweetheart Valentine A. Gubichev 32 in New York last March 4.

Chief Prosecutor John M. Kelly Jr. said the slips mentioned today would not be submitted as evidence because their disclosure might jeopardize "the security of the United States."

A highlight in the day's testimony came when FBI agent T. Scott Miller testified that his investigation failed to turn up any ties linking Miss Coplon with the Communist party or with any subversive organization.

Miss Coplon 29 a former Justice Department analyst is accused of filching government secrets with intent to aid a foreign power Russia. If convicted she would be subject to a possible maximum sentence of 30 years in prison.

The defendant faces a second trial in New York later with Gubichev as co-defendant on espionage conspiracy charges.

RULES 'WRITE-INS' LEGAL

Little Rock June 1 (AP).—Voters may write-in the names of candidates for school directors in elections held under the 1949 school consolidation act Attorney General Ike Murry ruled today.

The opinion went to Yell county supervisor Edmund B. Wilson of Danville.

Mrs. Joyce Mae Cox Honors Daughters
Mrs. Joyce Mae Cox entertained with a double birthday party honoring her daughters Jackie and Jerry, at the Legion Hall on Friday evening. Roses and lilies were used for decorations and formed a colorful background for the forty guests.

Various games were enjoyed after which a white birthday cake embossed with pink roses was served with cold drinks and candy.

McKeehen-Dawson Wedding Solemnized
The marriage of Miss Alice Jo McKeehen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. McKeehen, Ozark, and Raymond H. Dawson, Prescott, was solemnized Thursday evening, May 26, at 6 o'clock. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred Dawson, Prescott, and H. H. Dawson, Little Rock.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the Ozark Presbyterian church by Dr. Buckley S. Rude, College of the Ozarks, Clarksville. Pink roses, white lilies, carnations, and greenery were used in decorating the church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with fitted bodice and full skirt. The bodice yoke, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, was made of net and chantilly lace. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a coronet of bugle and crystal beads. She carried a white Bible topped with white carnations, lily rosebuds and stephanotis.

Miss Martha Ann Tippet, Prescott, maid of honor, whose dress of yellow drenched tulle was of simple design, also wore white carnations.

Sharon McKeehen, niece of the bride, was the flower girl and wore a floor length dress of green tulle. She carried a white basket filled with rose petals.

Horace H. Coflingham of Prescott served the groom as best man.

Miss Sula Kate Benson, organist, played the nuptial music, a melody composed of "Clare de Lune," "The Way You Look Tonight," and "At Dawning." The traditional wedding marches were used. Miss Benson also accompanied Miss Helen Wherry who sang "Because" and "I Love Thee." She wore a blue formal and pink roses.

Morris Nichols, Ozark, and Felver Howell, Malvern, served as usher and candlelighters.

After a wedding trip, the bridal couple will return to Clarksville to spend the summer months.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, May 22.

Fred Rymer, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee, announced the completion of the recently sponsored Retail Merchandising classes, which were presented by the State Department of Education, Distributive Division, under the direction of Miss Gertrude Moore, instructor.

Those who received their diplomas were: Mrs. Erma DeWoody, Rephans; Mrs. Gertrude Meador, Western Auto; Miss Bonnie Avery, Bon Franklin; Mrs. Gladys Gammage, Ben Franklin Store; Mrs. Alene Daniels, Dalrymple and Henry; L. E. Childers, Farmers Supply; James Paul Shackelford, J. C. Hardware; Mrs. Virginia Orr, Bon Franklin; Mrs. Frances Fore, Dalrymple and Henry; Wanda Otwell, Fosters Store; E. Jensen, J. & C. Hardware; Pat Allen, Ben Franklin; Sue Barger, Bon Franklin; Hody Butler, Bon Franklin; Mrs. B. C. Silvers, Rephans.

Mr. Rymer said 41 students registered for the course, but one of the requirements for receiving a diploma, in recognition of having participated in this Retail Merchandising school, was perfect attendance and last minute business interruptions prevented the balance of those who registered, from receiving their diplomas, however, class credit has been given them and when the course is again presented later, this credit will be applied.

Miss Moore stated that all classes were well attended and much interest was displayed in merchandising methods and she appreciated the co-operation extended her by the merchants of Prescott.

Cotton Loop Pennant Race Tightens

By The Associated Press

The Cotton States League pennant race tightened up again Wednesday night as three of the previous night's losers turned the tables to gain splits of short two game series.

Pine Bluff's Cardinals chopped Greenwood's first place margin over them back down to a game and a half by turning back the Dodgers, 4 to 1.

Natchez broke a virtual third place tie with Greenville with a 5-0 conquest of the Bucks, and the Hot Springs Bathers won their first game under new manager Glen (Gaby) Stewart, 8-7, over Clarksdale, to move from seventh to sixth in the standings.

The El Dorado Oilers, only team to score a series sweep, crept to within a game of the first division as they won, 12 to 8, at Helena.

It was a pitching duel between the Cards' lefty Tommy Graham and the Dodgers' Stan Polonsky at Pine Bluff. Polonsky gave up only three hits to Graham's four, but fielding bobbles by his team mates led to all four of the winners' runs.

Ray Mink hurled his sixth victory without a loss for the Natchez Indians in shutting out Greenville on six hits. The Indians bunched four of their eight hits for three runs in the third inning.

After yielding seven runs in the first two innings, Manager Jim McClure settled down to tight pitching and his Oilers did some costly hitting to notch the triumph over Helena's Seaporters. The game was marred by nine errors, five of them by Helena, which has lost seven of its last eight games.

Hot Springs' Bill Fischer gave up 17 hits but kept them scattered better than the nine safeties the Bathers got off two Planter hurlers. Dan's two-run homer in the seventh was the winners' big blow. Clarksdale loaded the bases in the ninth frame but didn't score. A spectacular catch by Hot Springs Second Baseman Pel Aulin ended the uprising and the game.

Thursday night's games: Clarksdale at Pine Bluff, Greenwood at Hot Springs, El Dorado at Greenville, Natchez at Helena.

Receiver Named for White River Firm

Little Rock, June 1 (AP)—Pulaski Chancery court today was asked to appoint a receiver for the White River Limestone Products Co.

The request was made in a suit filed by a stockholder Dr. J. E. Shuffield Little Rock, who accused the promoters of the firm of mismanagement.

The defendants are: Herman Miller St. Louis president of the Southern Mining & Manganese Co., Batesville Ark. and Howard A. Miller Little Rock resident agent for the White River firm.

Dr. Shuffield said the company was formed last March with a total authorized capital stock of 300,000 shares of common stock having $1 par value each.

He said the promoters didn't invest any money, but issued themselves 33,333 shares apiece as well as selling stock to the public drawing salaries and expenses. Moreover Dr. Shuffield alleged that the firm leased land owned by Miller's company, an accounting by Miller and Miller also is sought.

Love Triangle May Have Caused Plane Explosion

Manila, June 2 (AP)—A love triangle may have caused the mysterious explosion of a C-47 transport plane that killed 13 persons last month.

National bureau of investigation agents said they have information a woman and her lover had a time bomb placed aboard the plane to kill her husband.

Dispatches from Dact in south Luzon said the bureau was assembling the facts today.

Truman Believes World Is Closer to Peace Than at Any Time Within Past 3 Years

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

President Truman says he believes "we are closer to world peace now than at any time in the past three years."

Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill declares he has the growing hope "that we may avert forever the horrible vision of a third world war."

What justification is there for such optimism in view of the continued clashes between the Russians and the Western democracies in Europe and the sweeping victories of the Moscow-inspired Communists in China? Has the gift of prophecy deserted these two dis-

I don't believe either of them has lost his chumming. There are plenty of signs that the dangers of world war have receded greatly in recent weeks. The chief reason is that the Communist drive westward across Europe has been stopped by the power of the democracies' counteroffensive. Not only has it been stopped but it has very largely spent its force and is without the sinews for recovery.

So much for Europe, which has represented the greatest immediate threat to the western world. But what of China which houses close to a quarter of the world's population and is possessed of vast natural resources? Is there no danger in that situation?

China certainly does present grave dangers, but at this stage they are more ideal than military. It is quite in the cards that Russia even though dominating that vast country politically, would find it a white elephant.

This is so because China while potentially a great power is backward and undeveloped. From the military aspect she not only wouldn't be any great asset to Russia, but on the contrary would involve heavy expenditures for development. Progress calls for mountainous efforts and great sums of money.

Putting China on her feet isn't a matter of years. It involves decades.

So at this juncture neither Europe nor the Orient hold threats of another world war in anything like the near future. Perhaps as Churchill says, it may be averted forever.

But this doesn't mean the struggle between communism and democracy is drawing to a close. It will continue but along ideological lines rather than as a "shooting war"—at least so long as the Allies keep themselves militarily strong as a preventive.

If therefore remains to be seen whether for democracies are as good with ideas as they are with guns. For the conflict will be won or lost with ideas. General Dwight D. Eisenhower pinned the down yesterday in his first commencement address as president of Columbia university. Said he:

"In the years ahead of you graduates, the fundamental struggle of our time may be decided—between those who would further apply to our daily lives the concept of individual freedom and equality; and those who would subordinate the individual to the dictates of the state."

In this war of ideologies the democracies must lay down programs which are concrete and practical. No matter how much one may dislike communism it does have a concrete program. The average citizen wants some thing into which he can get his teeth.

Admits Armed Uprising Planned

New York, June 2 (AP)—The possibility of armed conflict in the United States over establishment of "socialism" is admitted by a defendant in the Communist conspiracy trial.

But the fault would lie with "Wall Street" interests—not with the Communist party—John Gates, editor of the Communist Daily Worker, testified yesterday.

Gates told the court: "We advocated winning a majority of the American people for the establishment of socialism, and we sought a peaceful means of doing that."

"And the only way force and violence would come into the picture would be if the big corporations and financial interests would attempt to prevent the American people from instituting socialism when they so desired."

Judge Harold R. Medina commented that "maybe that is the catch in it."

The witness asked, "the catch in what, sir?"

The judge replied: "As to how you figured that out. Do you say you would wait until they did use the force and violence first before you would try to overcome it?"

Harry Sachse, defense counsel objected and the judge withdrew the question.

Gates, first of the eleven defendants to testify, spent his sixth day on the witness stand. The eleven, all members of the U. S. Red Political Party, are charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Truman Won't Commit Himself on Tidelands

Washington, June 2 (AP)—President Truman declined today to commit himself in advance on a compromise of the tidelands oil controversy.

The matter was brought up at his news conference in connection with talks going on here among state and federal officials trying to reach an agreement. House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), spokes man for the conferees, described their meeting yesterday as "very fruitful" though he said no agreement was reached.

Today a reporter asked Mr. Truman if he would approve the legislation in case Rayburn's group reached a compromise.

The president replied that he will answer that question when legislation reaches him.

At issue is the control and ownership of valuable off-shore oil lands along the coasts of Texas, Louisiana and California.
